

Reading list: Early American History (1607-1783)

Professor Ted Cook

Exam: 3/29/02

Early Encounters

James Axtell, Natives and Newcomers

Karen O. Kupperman, Indians and English: Facing off in Early America

Gary Nash, Red, White, and Black

Society and Politics

Bernard Bailyn, New England Merchants in the Seventeenth Century

T.H. Breen, Tobacco Culture

Patricia Bonomi, Under the Cope of Heaven

John Putnam Demos, Entertaining Satan

Richard S. Dunn, Sugar and Slaves

Jack P. Greene, Pursuits of Happiness

David D. Hall, Worlds of Wonder, Days of Judgment

Stanley Katz, et al. Colonial America

Ned C. Landsman, From Colonials to Provincials: American Thought and Culture

Peter Mancall, Valley of Opportunity

James Merrell, The Indians' New World

Perry Miller, Errand into the Wilderness

Edmund S. Morgan, American Slavery, American Freedom

Gary Nash, Race, Class, and Politics

Mary Beth Norton, Founding Mothers and Fathers

Laurel Thatcher Ulrich, Good Wives

Colonial/Imperial Experiences

Bernard Bailyn, The Peopling of British North America

Bernard Bailyn and Philip D. Morgan, eds., Strangers within the Realm

David Cressy, Coming Over

Jack P. Greene, Peripheries and Center

Jack P. Greene, "Empire and Identity from the Glorious Revolution to the American Revolution," in P.J. Marshall, ed., Oxford History of the British Empire, Vol. II

Richard Johnson, Adjustment to Empire

Richard Johnson, "Growth and Mastery: British North America, 1690-1748," in P.J. Marshall, ed., Oxford History of the British Empire, Vol. II

David Lovejoy, The Glorious Revolution in America

Edmund S. Morgan, Inventing the People

American Revolution

Bernard Bailyn, The Ideological Origins of the American Revolution

Oliver Dickerson, The Navigation Acts and the American Revolution

Robert Gross, The Minutemen and their World

Linda Kerber, Women of the Republic

Pauline Maier, From Resistance to Revolution

Gordon S. Wood, The Creation of the American Republic

Gordon S. Wood, The Radicalism of the American Revolution